The Christmas Cookie Swap

Name: _____ Date: _____

Every December, the families on Oak Street have a Christmas cookie swap. Each family bakes one kind of cookie and brings a big plate to share.

This year, Sofia and her dad made gingerbread stars. Sofia rolled the dough, and Dad cut out the stars. But they forgot to set a timer! The first batch came out dark brown and crunchy.

Sofia wanted to give up. Instead, Dad showed her how to cover the dark edges with white icing and tiny red candies. At the swap, the neighbors loved the snowy stars. Sofia went home with six kinds of cookies and a new rule: always use a timer!
