The Rainy Day Lemonade Stand

Name: _____ Date: _____

Jada had planned her lemonade stand for two weeks. She wanted to earn money for a pair of roller skates that cost $40. She painted a bright yellow sign, squeezed lemons with her grandpa, and filled a big pitcher with ice.

But on Saturday morning, dark clouds rolled in. By ten o'clock, rain was pouring down. Nobody wanted cold lemonade on a chilly, wet day. Jada sat under the porch roof and frowned at her full pitcher.

Then her grandpa had an idea. "People might not want something cold," he said, "but what about something warm?" Together they made a pot of hot cocoa and changed the sign.

Soon neighbors with umbrellas were lining up. A mail carrier even bought two cups. By the end of the day, Jada had earned $23. She was not at her goal yet, but she had learned something important: when plans change, you can change too.

Answer Key

Jada had planned her lemonade stand for two weeks. She wanted to earn money for a pair of roller skates that cost $40. She painted a bright yellow sign, squeezed lemons with her grandpa, and filled a big pitcher with ice.

But on Saturday morning, dark clouds rolled in. By ten o'clock, rain was pouring down. Nobody wanted cold lemonade on a chilly, wet day. Jada sat under the porch roof and frowned at her full pitcher.

Then her grandpa had an idea. "People might not want something cold," he said, "but what about something warm?" Together they made a pot of hot cocoa and changed the sign.

Soon neighbors with umbrellas were lining up. A mail carrier even bought two cups. By the end of the day, Jada had earned $23. She was not at her goal yet, but she had learned something important: when plans change, you can change too.

1 WHY? Why did nobody buy lemonade?

- It was cold and rainy.
- The lemonade was sour.

2 WHO? Whose idea was the hot cocoa?

- Jada's
- Grandpa's
- the mail carrier's

3 HOW MANY? Jada earned $23. How much more does she need for the $40 skates?

$17 more, because $40 - $23 = $17.

4 WHAT? What lesson did Jada learn? Use your own words.

When your plans do not work, you can try a new idea.
